

The Boston Beer Company Announces Arbitration Decision On Dispute With Miller Brewing Company

October 29, 2003

BOSTON, Oct 29, 2003 /PRNewswire-FirstCall via COMTEX/ -- The Boston Beer Company, Inc. (NYSE: SAM) has announced that a panel of arbitrators has issued a decision on the dispute between the Company and Miller Brewing Company.

Under the arbitration award issued yesterday, it was determined that Miller Brewing Company was not entitled to early termination of its production agreement with Boston Beer and that the agreement remains in full force and effect. In addition, Miller will be required to reimburse Boston Beer for its legal fees and expenses relating to the arbitration proceedings.

During the fourth quarter of 2002, Miller filed with the American Arbitration Association a demand for arbitration seeking a declaration that it had the right to terminate its production agreement with Boston Beer as of May 30, 2004. The arbitrators determined that Miller did not have such early termination rights and, accordingly, ordered Miller to continue to produce for the Company.

Boston Beer does not expect any material change in its current production economics as a result of the decision.
